THE JOURNAL FOR THE CAMPAIGN.

But if this be so, more than this follows. It follows that individuals who claim to be party men have no right to advocate or oppose any given course suggested by the adoption of the party in such a manner as to prejudice or to turn them from supporting the decision of the Baltimore Convention. In case it shall be adverse to their wishes, if that Convention shall endorse the nomination of Mr. GREELEY, the New York World and Mr. YORRITIES will find their efficiency very much impaired when they enter the field as advocates of his cause. Colonel DAVID M. CARTER has been nominated by the Conservatives for Congress in the First Congressional District. This is an excellent nomination, and one debated to carry with it the full measure of success.

That gallant champion of Conservatism, Captain J. D. STANFORD, of Duplin, replied to Governor Caldwell and Colonel Margrove at Magnolia yesterday. Gentlemen, who were present inform us that Captain Stanford said that Mr. GREELEY has no such power, no such strength at the North as is now claimed for him; or suppose the delegates from Northern Democratic States declare with unanimity that the party there will not support Mr. GREELEY, and that his support at Baltimore will prove of the entire debt of the State and the interest thereon on the 21st November 1870. And yet Governor Caldwell tells the people of Wilmington that it "was incurred to put down the rebellion." It is a shame and a disgrace for a truth-telling and a truth-loving man, to make such a statement.

main STANFORD fully met the expectations of his friends, and drove the Radical champions to the wall. Their base appeals to the negroes, their advocacy of martial law, their defense of the party of corruption and extravagance were handled with a utterly hand.

The examples set by MEADES and STANFORD should be followed throughout the State.

NEWBERN, May 25, 1873.

MAJOR JOHN HUGHES.—It was our for-

This was the first attempt at such a meeting, and gave much satisfaction, both in itself and in the encouragement which it afforded of similar meetings in the future. The principal practical point developed was the advance-

There can be no stronger evidence to show how rapidly the times are out of joint than the fact that the gravest question for the grand council of the Party to consider is, how to get the South out of Wilmington.

The importance to this city of these connections is so vast that we venture to predict an entire new departure in its trade and growth. Capital and enterprise will make it a great city. We may look for an immense trade. There is no reason why

If Conservative speakers would imitate this example they would not only rob Governor Caldwell's incendiary appeals to negroes of their sting, but make them weapons in the hands of his opponents.

Being unable to assemble or act in a masse, the different constituencies of the party delegate certain men to represent them and to speak for them. These delegates constitute the Convention. The majority must rule. Individuals and individuals must be sacrificed to the party. Washington Patriot, in saying that "if the Democratic vote be divided or distracted, disaster is inevitable. Lense of the Wilmington and Weldon Railroad.

On Friday last, at the meeting of the Board of Directors of the Wilmington and Weldon Railroad Company, held in Baltimore, Md., the following resolutions were adopted:

Resolved, That the company do not elect any one who cannot endure this for a hundred miles as a mystery to us. At the next stopping place we went forward and begged the engineer to permit us to take a seat on the tender, preferring the hot sun in the open air to the dust and guano fumes in the "shanty." Massachusetts has just passed a bill which is wanted here badly. It prohibits all city officials, whether appointed or elected to office, from having any interest, directly or indirectly, in any contracts with the State.

The scenery too in all the surrounding country is pleasing to the eye, and no part of the United States presents a more favorable place for enjoyment than does Western North Carolina, and for a summer trip, there could be no place of visitation more desirable than the White Sulphur Springs.
